

For Immediate Release

Join American Agri-Women at the Table for National Ag Day

Colchester, Vt. (AgPR) March 22, 2021 — American Agri-Women \(AAW\) urge you to take a seat at our table to celebrate the 48th anniversary of National Ag Day on March 23rd. Wherever you are and whoever you are with, please take this time to recognize and celebrate the abundance provided to you by agriculture. The greater demand for food, fiber, and renewable resources produced in the United States (U.S.) continues to soar along with the world's population.

'Food Brings Everyone to the Table' is an excellent theme to convey the ways agriculture impacts our daily lives. The table itself is a representation of the timber industry, just as much as a place to gather with friends and family. The clothes you are wearing when you sit down at that table may very well include the work of a cotton farmer.

A start to the day may include a combination of eggs, bacon, syrup, and pancakes which brings a livestock producer, dairy and grain farmer, and sugar beet grower directly to your table. Lunch breaks fuel us with peanut butter sandwiches, French fries, and even carrot sticks so that you come in contact with peanut and potato farmers along with vegetable growers. We can't forget the glass of wine, orange juice, or café latte tie you to either a grape grower, fruit and coffee bean producer, or an almond and dairy farmer. Pollination is required for many foods, which in turn requires a beekeeper.

The production of U.S. agriculture-based products is only the beginning of farm-to-table. Many career opportunities abound from harvest to processing to packaging. No matter what stage of the supply chain a product is in, it is guaranteed to include some form of transportation.

Providing knowledge to Americans and ag literacy to students helps everyone understand agriculture's history, including the current economic, social, and environmental significance. This allows individuals to make informed personal choices about the products they buy.

Throughout the past year, the U.S. came to a strong realization about food production. This provided individuals, organizations, local government, and agriculturalists a seat together at the table so that positive decisions could be made on how to impact the availability of food directly where it was needed the most.

We must continue to invite others to our table, not only for discussions about food and agriculture but also to celebrate its contribution to our physical and mental health.

National Ag Day is organized by the Agriculture Council of America. The ACA is a nonprofit organization composed of leaders in the agricultural, food and fiber community, dedicating its efforts to increasing the public's awareness of agriculture's role in modern society. Visit www.agday.org for more information on National Ag Day 2021 or contact Jennifer Pickett - jennyp@nama.org.

American Agri-Women \(AAW\) promotes the welfare of our national security through safe and reliable food, fiber, and energy supply. Since 1974, AAW members have worked together to educate consumers, advocate for agriculture, and offer networking and professional development opportunities. For more information about AAW www.americanagriwomen.org. Find AAW on social media at: Facebook.com/AgriWomen/, Twitter.com/Women4Ag/ (@Women4Ag) and Instagram.com/americanagriwomen/ (@americanagriwomen).

###

Media Contact:

Carie M. Moore
Vice President of Communications
American Agri-Women
carie.marshallmoore@americanagriwomen.org
www.americanagriwomen.org

Editor's Note: This is being sent to you via AgPR, www.AgPR.com, the news release distribution service for agriculture. AgPR is an "opt-in" service provided at no charge to journalists who report on agricultural topics. We encourage you to forward this info to other journalists you think will find it of interest. If you've received this from a peer and would like to receive future agricultural e-news briefs, please contact Warren E. Clark via e-mail at warren.clark@ccimarketing.com or by phone at (847) 836-5100. AgPR is a service provided by CCI Marketing, www.ccimarketing.com.